Sample Uses for Drug and Alcohol Testing Regimen for Unsupervised Access and Possession

DRUG DETECTION	Baseline Establishment: Use hair or nail drug tests. Intermittent/Daily Use Detection: Use Sweat Patch in 7-day increments. Extended Monitoring: Use Sweat Patch for 60-90 days with a Step-Up Possession Plan. Random Urine Tests: Implement once possession schedule thresholds are met OR use for extended monitoring.
ALCOHOL DETECTION	Heavy Drinking Detection: Use urine testing to detect heavy drinking within 80 hours before collection. Long-Term Detection: Use PEth Blood Spot to detect drinking up to 2-3 weeks prior. (PEth Half-Life: Average half-life is 4.5 days; levels halve every 4.5 days. Example: A PEth level of 1000 ng/mL would take about 2.5 weeks to fall below the 20 ng/mL cut-off if drinking stops.) Use hair or nail for up to 3 month detection.
CHILD EXPOSURE	Hair Testing for Children (ChildGuard) Harm Establishment: Detects passive drug exposure in a child's hair up to 3 months after exposure. Causal Link: Establishes the connection between the adult's substance use and harm to the child.
